

Freedom Forum 2012 [1]

Written by Blog Editor [2] | Monday 5 March 2012

It's that time of year again. After the roaring success of last year's inaugural conference, the Liberty League Freedom Forum 2012 [3] is only a month away.

For just £30 per ticket, they've booked out the entire Albatross Hostel in Newcastle, so will be providing your accommodation, meals, drink and books, as well as giving you the chance to meet other young pro-liberty activists from all over the UK.

You'll have the chance to meet and debate some of the liberty movement's best speakers, and take part in seminars and lectures with topics such as whether the state should ever intervene in parenting, banking and currency reform, the Ancient Greek and Renaissance conceptions of freedom, the evolution of libertarian thoughts, whether humanitarian military intervention is ever justified, the morality of food, free market environmentalism, and a whole lot more too.

This will be alongside activism and training sessions exploring and improving skills in journalism, public relations, debating, and how to set up and run pro-liberty student societies on campus.

With even more speakers to be announced over the next few days, the list already includes Madsen Pirie, President of the Adam Smith Institute, along with Mark Littlewood, Claire Fox, Angus Kennedy, Max Wind-Cowie, Nick Pickles, Josie Appleton, Dan Hamilton, Kevin Dowd, Mark Pennington, Chris Snowdon, Patrick Hayes, Rob Lyons, Alex Singleton, and Jamie Whyte.

Date: 30th March - 1st April

Venue: Newcastle University, and Albatross Hostel, Newcastle.
